About our cover:

This picture was taken on December 13, 2007 on Aquidneck Island. Lowell Turner is 13 years old and will turn 14 in September. This was his first duck hunt. "Cutter" Fenway Trooper, the Laborator Retriever, is registered at the Kennel Club UK and was 11 months old in this picture.

The Division of Fish and Wildlife Mission Statement

Our mission is to ensure that the Freshwater, Marine and Wildlife resources of the State of Rhode Island will be conserved and managed for equitable and sustainable use.

A message from the Chief...

The cover of the 2008-2009 Hunting and Trapping Abstract features a photo of a young hunter with his dog and the Canada geese he has just harvested. To the Division, this photo is incredibly significant, as it shows a boy who has discovered the pride, happiness, and skill achieved in being a good hunter. As the Chief, I wish I could accurately say that this photograph was an indicator of how the numbers of hunting participants are flourishing in the state; however, this is unfortunately not the case. In the urban Northeast, involvement in hunting has been steadily decreasing for a number of reasons.

The Division of Fish & Wildlife is working diligently to keep the cultural and social traditions of hunting alive and well. Through outreach and educational programs, the Division is rekindling the interest of the youth of Rhode Island and introducing them to what our vast outdoors have to offer. I believe that the dedicated staff, with your help, can continue to spread this message by "taking a kid hunting". I urge all parents to read Last Child in the Woods – it could be as portending as "the canary in the coal mine".

The ending of this message is a little sad for me, as I will be retiring in October, having given 36 years of service with the Division. In 1972, I started as a young biologist and have advanced over the years to the position of Chief, and through it all, it has been a wonderful time.

As always, please act responsibly, courteously, ethically, and above all SAFELY, so that we may all enjoy the great tradition of hunting. I wish you all the best of good health and good hunting. –Michael Lapisky

About this Booklet

This booklet has been designed to assist you in navigating the many rules and regulations governing hunting and trapping for the 2008-2009 seasons. For more detailed information, see the General Laws of Rhode Island, obtainable in most public libraries. A complete copy of the Seasons and Bag Limits and Management Area regulations may be reviewed at the Rhode Island Division of Fish & Wildlife, Government Center, 4808 Tower Hill Road, Wakefield, RI 02879.

New this season:

- ◆ All Outdoors Permit package changes. The All Outdoors Package still allows hunters to harvest 11 mainland deer. Hunters are now allowed to use six antlerless permits to be used in any combination during the appropriate season on a trial basis only. A limited number are available at the DEM Division of Licensing. Please see page 12 for further details and the instructions on your permit.
- ◆ On a trial basis, muzzleloaders can be used during the shotgun season with a valid shotgun permit only. All shotgun rules and regulations apply, including fluorescent orange.
- ◆ Pop-up blinds are permitted during the deer season, provided the fluorescent orange requirements are met.
- ◆ There will be no Prudence Island Lottery. Permits to hunt on Prudence Island state land will be required. The Heritage Property still requires a lottery. Proficiency testing for Prudence Island hunting is still required.
- ◆ There will be no Francis Carter Lottery. Proficiency testing and a permit to hunt is still required.
- ◆ Air gun rifles permitted – See page 8 for restrictions and page 15 for specific species.
- ◆ Jr. Pheasant season – Please see page 15 for details and registration information.
- ◆ The casting of rays (spot-lighting) is prohibited from October 1, 2008 – January 31, 2009 (see page 8).
- ◆ HIP permits may also be available by calling a toll-free phone number, pending fiscal approval.
- ◆ Additionally, a toll-free number or website may be available for checking deer this season, pending contractual approval. See page 11 and 12 for more details.

DEFINITIONS (this is a partial listing)

Antlerless Deer – Deer having no antlers or antlers less than three (3) inches in length.

Bearded Turkey – A turkey, which carries a visible beard (a tuft of stiff filament-like feathers projecting outward and downward from the center of the chest).

Box Trap – Any trigger-operated device intended to restrain an animal by confinement in a box or cage.

Conibear-type trap – “Conibear” model traps and similar body-gripping traps and devices, whether or not enclosed in or comprising part of a box, tube, or other enclosing device.

Crossbow – A bow and string (either compound or recurve) that launches an arrow, mounted upon a stock, with a trigger unit that holds the string and limbs under tension until released. The trigger unit must have a working safety. The minimum crossbow, arrow, and blade restrictions are further described on page 12 of these regulations.

CWD endemic area – Any state where chronic wasting disease has been diagnosed, or county bordering a state where chronic wasting disease has been diagnosed, to include the following: Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming or the Canadian provinces of Saskatchewan or Alberta.

Driving deer – To pursue, drive, chase, or otherwise frighten or cause a deer to move in a direction toward a person or persons known to be waiting for a deer, for the purpose of hunting.

Daylight fluorescent orange – The color orange having a dominant wavelength between 595 and 606 nanometers, an excitation purity not less than 85 percent, and a lumination factor not less than 40 percent.

Furbearer – Defined as the following species: coyote, gray fox, red fox, raccoon, fisher, short-tailed weasel, long-tailed weasel, mink, striped skunk, river otter, bobcat, beaver, gray squirrel, muskrat, opossum, eastern cottontail, New England cottontail, snowshoe hare (RIGL 20-16-1).

Jacklighting – The use of an artificial light to illuminate, locate, attempt to locate, or show up wild birds or mammals or any other vertebrates.

Migratory game bird – Per US Fish & Wildlife, those migratory birds included in the conventions between the United States and any foreign country for the protection of migratory birds, belonging to the following families: Anatidae (ducks, geese & swans); Columbidae (doves & pigeons); Gruidae (cranes); Rallidae (rails, coots, & gallinules); Scolopacidae (woodcock & snipe).

Paraplegic – Individual afflicted with paralysis of the lower half of the body with involvement of both legs.

RIGL – Rhode Island General Law

RIHR – Rhode Island Hunting Regulations

Small Game – For the purposes of Rhode Island hunting regulations includes fox, gray squirrel, partridge (ruffed grouse), pheasant, quail, rabbits, raccoon and snowshoe hare.

Translocation – Means the transport and release of live wild animals from one location to another.

LICENSES AND PERMITS

No person shall hunt, pursue, take or kill any wild bird or animal in the state without first having obtained a Rhode Island hunting license (RIGL 20-13-1). Hunters must have a license in possession, on their person, at all times and shall present it for inspection to any authorized person demanding same. Failure to present a license shall make a person liable to the same penalties as if he or she was hunting without a license (RIGL 20-2-9). Licensed hunters and trappers are subject to inspection of any boat, vehicle, game bag, blind, stand, or other paraphernalia used in conjunction with licensed activity (RIGL 20-2-32). Licenses may be suspended or revoked because of violations of hunting rules and regulations (RIGL 20-2-13).

Available from DEM Division of Licensing at 235 Promenade St., Providence, RI 02908 (401) 222-3576; most city and town clerks (licenses only); most sporting goods stores; and <http://www.dem.ri.gov/>. To replace a lost or stolen license or permit, contact DEM Division of Licensing.

Time to get HIP: The Migratory Bird Harvest Information Program

The HIP program was designed to aid state and wildlife agencies and the US Fish & Wildlife Service (USFWS) better information on managing our nation's migratory bird resources. To comply with HIP, all migratory bird hunters will need to obtain a permit and answer a small survey (not available at press time). Barring unforeseen fiscal constraints, you may be able to obtain your HIP permit by calling a toll-free number or on the web. More details to follow after press time.

HUNTING DATES AND BAG LIMITS

() = Bag limit * = Important to see full text regulations

NOTE: Some towns restrict hunting and, therefore, it is important to check town ordinances before hunting. Towns closed to Sunday hunting include Portsmouth, Little Compton, Middletown, Barrington, and Tiverton (including Sapowet Management Area). Some towns require written permission of the landowner, and/or local police department. For local and Sunday hunting regulations, check with the town police department or town clerk. Landowner permission is required for all hunting on Block Island.

- Spotlighting is prohibited on the mainland from Oct. 1-Jan. 31.

PROTECTED WILDLIFE

The Lacey Act of 1900, the first federal game law, regulates interstate and international commerce in wildlife. The term “wildlife”, for the purposes of the act, means any wild animal, wild bird, amphibian, reptile, mollusk, or crustacean, or their dead bodies, parts, eggs, or offspring, but does not include migratory birds for which protection is afforded under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act. Briefly, action can be taken against anyone who transports, ships, or sells wildlife in interstate or foreign commerce contrary to state or foreign laws, or transports any package not properly labeled or tagged.

The Migratory Bird Treaty Act, signed in 1918, includes agreements between the United States, Canada, Great Britain, Mexico, Japan, and Russia for the protection of migratory bird populations. Migratory birds are protected by the federal government with provisions allowing state regulation. All birds, their parts, nests, and eggs are protected, except as provided by open hunting seasons. Refer to Rhode Island waterfowl abstract for more information.

Reptiles and Amphibians

The removal from the wild, for any purposes, of any reptile or amphibian (to include eggs or nest) except bullfrogs, green frogs and snapping turtles is prohibited except by special permit (RIHR 12.1). The release into the wild of any non-native reptile or amphibians is prohibited.

The following species of reptiles and amphibians (to include eggs or nests) are protected and possession without permit is prohibited at all times: Timber rattlesnake, Crotalus horridus; northern diamondback terrapin, Malaclemys terrapin; wood turtle, Clemmys insculpta; eastern box turtle, Terrapene carolina; spotted turtle, Clemmys guttata; and bog turtle, Clemmys uhlenbergi (RIHR 12.2). The taking of snapping turtles at any time shall be limited to the following methods: turtle traps, snagging, snaring, grabbing, jugging, bow and arrow, or while legally fishing. Traps and jugs must carry the trapper’s name and address (RIHR 12.1).

STATE LANDS

There are over 48,000 acres of land designated as state management areas in Rhode Island. Maps of management areas are available from the Rhode Island Division of Fish and Wildlife at the Great Swamp Field Office. Regulations are designed and enforced to allow all outdoor enthusiasts to safely enjoy these land holdings. Hunting and trapping is allowed during the open seasons. In order to effectively manage and safeguard these open areas for people, wildlife, and habitat, the following regulations are to be adhered to while on state management areas:

Regulations:

- All state management areas will be closed to all hunting, Oct. 13-17, 2008 except waterfowl hunting, as provided, and bow hunting for deer.
- The possession of a valid Rhode Island hunting, or combination hunting and fishing license, shall serve as a permit to hunt State Management Areas (RIGL 20-18-2 and 20-18-3). This permit shall be valid only from the first day of dove season to the last day in February and spring turkey season except when check stations are in operation or when special permits are required for deer, waterfowl, or turkey hunting on state lands. The carrying of firearms on state management areas at any other time is prohibited. Only archery equipment may be possessed or used while hunting white-tailed deer within the Simmons Mill Pond Management Area, Little Compton.
- Except for fishing, hunting, launching, and/or mooring of boats, all management areas are closed ½ hour after sunset to 5:00 a.m., except by written permit. (RIGL 32-2-4)
- Camping is prohibited on all areas with the exception of portions designated at Arcadia and George Washington Management Areas (contact the Division of Forest Environment for camping information).
- The use of motorcycles is prohibited except in designated portions of Arcadia Mgt. Area.
- The use of ATVs is prohibited statewide.
- The blocking of any gate, road, or access in State Management Areas is prohibited and subject to fines (RIGL 32-2-4).

GENERAL DEER HUNTING REGULATIONS

FLUORESCENT ORANGE REQUIREMENTS:

Fluorescent orange safety clothing is required during the hunting season statewide for all hunters. To meet this requirement, safety clothing must be solid daylight fluorescent orange. Fluorescent camouflage does not meet this requirement. The hunter orange must be worn above the waist and be visible in all directions. Examples are: a hat that covers 200 square inches or combination of hat and vest covering 500 square inches.

1. 200sq. in. by small game hunters during the small game season.
2. 200sq. in. by fall turkey hunters while traveling.
3. 200sq. in. by muzzleloader hunters during the muzzle-loading deer season and concurrent shotgun season.
4. 200sq. in. by archers when traveling to/from stands during the muzzleloader deer season only.
5. 500sq. in. by all hunters (including archers) and all users of management areas and undeveloped state parks during all portions of shotgun deer seasons.
6. Pop-up blinds are allowed for deer hunting as long as proper fluorescent clothing is worn.

Exemptions: Specifically, waterfowl hunters while hunting from a boat or a blind, over water or field, when done in conjunction with decoys; crow hunting over decoys, spring turkey hunters, and first segment dove hunters.

ORANGE REQUIREMENTS FOR NON-HUNTING ACTIVITIES ON STATE MANAGEMENT AREAS

In addition to the above hunter requirements, all other users (hikers, bicyclists, horseback riders, etc.) of State Management areas are required to wear 200 square inches of solid daylight fluorescent orange from the third Saturday in October to the last day of February and the last Thursday in April to the last day in May, annually.

Hunter Safety Course Requirements & Licensing: Persons applying for a hunting license or archery permit for the first time or not having been a member of the armed forces must complete a course in safe hunting or archery practices and have been issued a Certificate of Competency to obtain a license. Applicants must present a valid hunter safety card from Rhode Island or other state, or possess a previous RI hunting license. A list of hunter safety instructors, dates, and locations of classes is available from the Hunter Safety Office: (401) 789-3094

All hunting accidents must be reported to an Environmental Police Officer within 72 hours (RIGL 20-13-12).

Hunter Ethics/Landowner Cooperation Course: The RI Division of Fish & Wildlife Hunter Safety Office is offering a hunter ethics/landowner cooperation course. By participating in this course, hunters will be more familiar with the concerns of landowners and non-hunting public. Course is open to anyone over 18 who meets the requirements for a RI Hunting license. There is a four-hour classroom program, including a written exam and proficiency testing. Successful participants will be placed on a registry, which landowners may reference when seeking hunters for their property. For more information, call the Hunter Safety Office: (401) 789-3094.

Any person who wounds or kills a deer shall make a written report stating the facts relative to the wounding or killing, signed by him or her, to be sent or submitted within twenty-four (24) hours to the department. (RIGL 20-15-1,8)

Deer permits are available at specified vendors; complete list available from the Division of Licensing.

Annual Written Permission

Annual written landowner permission is required for deer hunting on private land (RIGL 20-15-1) for the current deer season. It is not required that deer permits (tags) be signed by the landowner, provided the hunter has other written permission. Deer permits (tags) must be carried while hunting. Annual written permission must be shown to any authorized person upon demand, and must be presented when checking deer (RIHR 1.8).

Restrictions:

- Only one firearm or bow may be possessed in the field per individual hunter while hunting deer.
- Check local ordinances, for there are many other restrictions in towns.

Prohibited:

- The use of decoys or electronic calls. The construction and use of permanent tree stands. The use of nails, spikes, bolts, or climbing devices, which may damage trees on state property; and on private property without the permission of the landowner.
- Hunting, pursuing or molesting deer below mean high tidal water or while deer are swimming in any waters of the state.
- Feeding or baiting: the act of using, placing, giving, exposing, depositing, distributing, or scattering any material, or any act to maintain the availability of such material that attracts deer to feed on such material.

Chronic Wasting Disease Regulations:

Please see page 18-19 for important regulations regarding the importing, releasing, feeding and baiting of deer and other cervids in Rhode Island.

ATTENTION HUNTERS: NOTE NEW CHANGES

Tagging and Checking Procedures:

Deer must be tagged, with a valid deer permit (tag) for the appropriate season, immediately upon taking. All deer must be checked by a state Environmental Police Officer, at a state operated check station, or by approved vendors, within 24 hours. During the shotgun and muzzleloader deer seasons all deer must be checked at a state operated check station during the first three days of the season. All other deer may be checked at approved vendor check stations for the remainder of the seasons. On the final day of the season, deer must be checked by 6:00pm. Toll free and/or online deer checking may be available – details to follow.

SAFE TURKEY HUNTING--

IS NO ACCIDENT!

When compared to other sports activities (baseball, basketball and swimming--injuries per hundred thousand participants) hunting is a relatively safe activity. These comparisons should not cause any hunter to take accident free hunting for granted--each and every hunter must make safety the top priority of the hunt.

Very few hunting experiences compare with the exhilaration of turkey hunting. A chance to spend a day afield in the turkey woods, enjoying not only the hunt but also the splendor of the outdoors in spring makes this experience worthwhile to sportsmen. This is a privilege not to be taken for granted. Be sure that your turkey hunting experience is an enjoyable one by observing these key ingredients for a safe hunt.

TURKEY HUNTING SAFETY

- NEVER crowd another hunter working a bird and avoid high-pressure areas.
- "Mistaken for game" accounts for 87% of all turkey hunting accidents-- Be sure of your target and what's beyond.
- Use proper setup techniques-- Sit against a wide tree to shield head, neck and back. A tree is an effective blind as it breaks your outline.
- Never wear the colors red, white or blue while turkey hunting. These colors mimic the colors of a gobbler's head and can draw fire. Be totally camouflaged.
- Never stalk turkey sounds or turkeys- it's unsafe and illegal. Never use the sounds of a turkey to warn approaching hunters.
- Avoid using gobbling calls-- which draw more hunters than game.
- Don't fall prey to peer pressure – turkey hunting is not a contest for the biggest or first bird.

SMALL GAME

MAINLAND

Management Areas

Small game hunters are required to check in and out of the state operated check stations at Great Swamp, Arcadia, Durfee Hill, and Carolina management areas on the following dates: Oct. 18 & 19, 25 & 26, and Nov. 1 & 2, 8 & 9. Check station hours are ½ hour before sunrise to sunset. Subject to change pending fiscal constraints.

Pheasant hunting: Pheasants are stocked prior to opening day through the end of December. Stocked management areas are: Arcadia, Black Hut, Big River, Buck Hill, Carolina, Durfee Hill, Great Swamp, Nicholas Farm, Seapowet, Simmons Mill Pond and 8 Rod Farm.

- The daily limit for pheasant is 2 either sex birds.
- Each pheasant must be tagged immediately upon taking.
- Hunters may purchase unlimited permits. Each permit allows taking of 6 pheasants.
- Management Areas may remain open during the season stocking period pending fiscal approval.
- Jr. Pheasant – Oct. 11-12. Registration required by Sept. 11. Limited slots. Call 789-0281 for application and information.

Restrictions:

- The small game season is closed during the shotgun deer season (Dec. 6 - 14, 2008) except:

* Special permit required in addition to RI trapping license and may be obtained at Fish and Wildlife's Great Swamp Field Headquarters (401)789-0281

General Regulations

- No person shall set, maintain or tend any trap without first obtaining a trapping license from the Department of Environmental Management. A resident of this state may set traps on property, which they own and on which they are domiciled without obtaining a trapping license. (20-16-7)
- Every holder of a trapping license will be provided with a trapping harvest report card that must be returned to the Division of Fish and Wildlife within 30 days of the end of the trapping season. Failure to return the card will result in denial of trapping license renewal. (20-16-12)
- Traps may not be set, staked, or placed prior to 8:00 AM opening day.
- All traps must have, at a minimum, the trapper's current RI trapping license number attached by a metal tag or embedded or cut into the trap. (20-6-7)
- Written landowner permission is required to trap on private land. (20-16-9)
- All traps must be checked at least once in every 24-hour period. (20-6-9)
- There is no open season on bobcat (Lynx rufus) or river otter (Lontra canadensis).

Types of Traps Permitted:

Furbearers for which there is an open season may be taken in: box (a.k.a. "cage") traps, body-grip (a.k.a. "conibear") traps, or species specific traps, with the following restrictions:

Body-grip traps

- Private land: Body-grip (a.k.a. smooth wire or "conibear") type traps up to 6 ½" jaw spread (i.e. "110, 120, 160" or equivalent) are permitted on land or in water on private land. Body-grip type traps greater than 6 ½" but not exceeding 8" jaw spread ("220") may only be set if completely submerged in water or set no less than six (6) feet above the surface of the ground. Body-grip traps greater than 8" but not exceeding 10" jaw spread ("330") may only be set completely submerged in water.
- State land: Body-grip traps up to 6 ½" jaw spread are only permitted in water sets (i.e. all or a portion of the trap in water) or if placed six (6) feet above the ground. Body-grip traps with a jaw spread greater than 6 ½" but not exceeding 10" ("220-330") may only be set if completely submerged in water.

Box traps

- The use of box traps is permitted on private and state lands.

Species-specific traps

- The use of species-specific traps is permitted on private and state land.

Definitions

Species-specific trap: is characterized by all of the following:

1. Triggering and restraining mechanisms are enclosed with a housing;
2. Triggering and restraining mechanisms are only accessible through a single opening when set;
3. The access opening does not exceed 2 inches in diameter;
4. The triggering mechanism can only be activated by a pulling force;
5. A swivel mounted anchoring system.

Trapping on state management areas

- All trappers harvesting furbearers from state management areas must obtain a special permit (no fee), issued by the Division of Fish and Wildlife, Great Swamp Field Headquarters in addition to their current RI trapping license.

Prohibitions

- The use of poisons or snares. (20-16-6).
- The use of steel-jawed leghold traps (20-16-8).
- No person shall disturb, tend, or possess a trap of another, or take a furbearer animal from the traps of another unless specifically authorized to do so. (20-16-12).
- The setting of traps within ten feet of a beaver lodge or bank den or within eight feet of a muskrat lodge unless authorized by special permit.
- The taking or possession of a road-killed furbearer (20-16-1), unless with a current RI trapping license and during the open season for that species or as provided for under a current RI Scientific Collectors Permit (20-1-18) or otherwise permitted by the Division.
- The translocation (i.e. the relocation) of protected furbearers (RIGL 20-16-1) is prohibited without prior written approval of the Division of Fish & Wildlife.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

HYPOTHERMIA

Hypothermia means lowered body temperature. It is very dangerous and can kill the unprepared. Submersion in water is not needed to become endangered by hypothermia. Wet clothing from perspiration or rain can cause hypothermia. It is also easily brought on by boating accidents. To avoid hypothermia the hunter must be prepared before going out. Staying dry is the most important step. Wear proper clothing, bring dry clothes in waterproof containers, and dress in layers to avoid sweating. Avoid alcohol, as it increases moisture and heat loss while making you feel warmer. When hunting on or near the water, observe safe boating methods.

Symptoms and First Aid for Hypothermia
	Mild	Moderate	Severe
Symptoms:	Shivering Complaints of cold Loss of coordination Mental withdrawal and apathy	Listlessness, mental confusion, refusal to recognize problem Uncontrollable shivering Slurred speech Stumbling Clumsiness	Unresponsiveness Decreased pulse and respiration Shivering stops Change in skin color Collapse, unconsciousness
First aid:	End exposure – get victim out of cold and wet environment. Replace wet clothing with dry. Offer warm liquids or food only if victim is fully conscious.	See first aid for mild symptoms. Wrap in blankets or sleeping bag when wet clothing cannot be changed; dry clothing layer by layer.	Deliver warmth to the head and body of the victim. Treatment should only be attempted if victim cannot be evacuated to a hospital.

RABIES

Rabies is a fatal disease. ALL mammals are susceptible. The virus is transmitted when the saliva or nervous system tissue of an infected animal enters through a bite, cut, or opening in the skin. Prevention and vaccination is crucial.

Precautions before hunting

- Sportsmen who handle large numbers of mammals, or who butcher deer, should receive pre-exposure rabies vaccinations.
- Hunting dogs should be kept up to date on all vaccines, and boosted if exposed to suspect animals.

Precautions while hunting

- Avoid direct contact by always wearing rubber gloves during handling.
- Avoid contact with saliva and nervous system tissues
- Place carcass in a heavy plastic bag to avoid spread of disease.

Precautions at home

- Gloves, a rubber apron, and face protection should be worn when skinning, fleshing, and butchering animals. The virus can survive for weeks at refrigerator temperatures and for months to years when frozen.

- Trim and discard all meat near wounds.
- All animal parts not being utilized should be properly disposed of or buried.
- Do not prepare meat with equipment used for skinning or preparing carcass.
- Clean all materials and surface areas used in game preparation, and disinfect with a 5% bleach solution for at least 20 minutes.
- Thoroughly wash hands with soap and warm water for at least 60 seconds.

In case of exposure

- Wash the area thoroughly with soap and warm water for at least 2 minutes and contact your physician immediately.
- If available, the head of the animal can be tested for rabies. If the animal is not available for testing, rabies treatment will be initiated for you. Consult your veterinarian immediately if your pet is exposed, and wear gloves when handling or cleaning its wounds.

LYME DISEASE

Lyme disease is caused by infection from the bacteria Borrelia burgdorferi, and is spread by the bite of ticks of the genus Ixodes. In the northeast, the tick responsible for spreading this disease is commonly known as the deer tick. The life cycle of the deer tick has three stages. If you find a deer tick that has been embedded over 24 hours it is likely to have transmitted the disease. The larval and nymph stages are extremely tiny and hard to see, so check carefully after being outdoors.

Symptoms of Lyme Disease:

- Fatigue
- Chills and fever
- Headache
- Muscle and joint pain
- Swollen lymph nodes
- Red,

Prevention of Lyme Disease:

- Wear light colored clothing so that ticks can be spotted more easily.
- Tuck pant legs into socks or boots and shirt into pants.
- Tape the area where pants meet socks so that ticks cannot crawl under clothing.
- Use insect repellants containing DEET on clothes and exposed skin, or treat clothes with permethrin, which kills ticks on contact.
- Wear a hat and a long-sleeved shirt for added protection
- Wash and dry clothing at high temperature
- Inspect body carefully and remove attached ticks with tweezers

CHRONIC WASTING DISEASE

What is CWD? CWD is a rare neurological disease that affects deer and elk. It attacks the brain, producing small lesions that eventually result in death. CWD was first recognized in the late 60s in Colorado and has recently been found in New York State. Although domestic livestock and humans are not known to be susceptible to CWD, currently there is not enough information to prove that they are safe from the disease. Also, there is no connection between CWD and BSE (mad cow disease).

Rhode Island CWD Surveillance:
Deer Head Collection Quota and Criteria

1. Deer heads will again be collected from deer 18 months of age and older throughout the state during the upcoming deer season.
2. We are obligated to submit 190 deer heads from all areas of the state.
3. We are also collecting samples from deer that appear sick. Call (401) 222-3070 immediately with exact location of sick deer.
4. Your cooperation is essential! We cannot be declared CWD-free without meeting our quota for deer testing.
5. When you check in your deer, simply attach the special metal seal provided to the ear - no additional paperwork required.
6. For more information, please see <http://www.dem.ri.gov/topics/wltopics.htm>.

3 Things You Can Do to Halt the Spread of CWD:

1. Do not feed or bait deer. Feeding and baiting spreads disease and is illegal.
2. Donate your deer heads for CWD testing at hunter check stations.
3. If you hunt outside of Rhode Island, please read the following information about how to safely transport your deer:

Requirements for Marking Imported Carcasses and Parts:

All carcasses and parts of any cervids imported into Rhode Island must have a legible label bearing the following information: the species of animal, the State, Province or Country where the animal was taken or where the shipment originated, the name of the person who took the animal or the name of the shipper, the address of the taker or shipper and, for transport through the State, the destination of the shipment. Hunter harvested carcasses; parts or meat taken outside Rhode Island shall also bear the marking, tagging or labeling required by the State where the animal was taken.

Feeding and baiting Cervids in Rhode Island: No person shall feed cervids at any time in Rhode Island except:

- Under a license or permit issued by the Department of Environmental Management for scientific research.
- By planting, cultivating, or harvesting of crops directly associated with agricultural practices, including planted wildlife food plots;
- By distribution of food materials for livestock directly associated with agricultural practices;
- By distribution of food material for legally possessed captive cervids, pursuant to a permit;
- By cutting of trees or brush;
- By elevated bird/squirrel feeders providing seed, grain, fruit, worms, or suet for birds or squirrels located within 100 feet of an occupied dwelling.

Distribution of Certain Food Materials: No person shall feed wild or captive cervids with any material that contains protein derived from any mammalian tissues.

POSSESSING AND IMPORTING CERVID PARTS AND CARCASSES IN RHODE ISLAND
Cervids from CWD Endemic Areas	Possessing or importing PROHIBITED:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Brain, eyes, spinal cord, lymph nodes, tonsils or spleen.
	Possessing or importing Permitted:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The hide or cape, the skull-cap with antlers attached, the antlers, finished taxidermy, tanned hides, and the upper canine. • Meat that is boned, cut up, packaged and wrapped, and not mixed with the meat of any other animal.
Cervids from Non-CWD Areas:	Possessing or importing PROHIBITED:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Brain, eyes, spinal cord, lymph nodes, tonsils or spleen from any captive or captive bred cervid originating outside of Rhode Island.
	Possessing or importing Permitted:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Any parts or carcasses from wild animals or captive RI cervids.

CWD Endemic Areas in North America And New York Border Counties

An endemic area is defined as any state, or county bordering a state, where Chronic Wasting Disease has been diagnosed, including the following: West Virginia, Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, New Mexico, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Montana, New York or the Canadian provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. (Additional areas updated on an as-needed basis)

What Hunters Should Know about Avian Influenza

Prepared July 10, 2008

The Rhode Island Department of Environmental Management is participating in a nationwide effort of surveillance of wild birds for Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza H5N1. The Division of Fish & Wildlife (DFW) has, in cooperation with other federal and state agencies, targeted several species for surveillance. The DFW is using a variety of methods to sample birds and working cooperatively with designated laboratories to have samples tested. The state will work with federal agencies and the local media to inform the public in the event of a positive detection of HPAI H5N1.

Although the Highly Pathogenic H5N1 strain of avian influenza has not yet been discovered in North America, RI DEM DFW would advise hunters to adhere to the following procedures when handling wild birds to avoid any possible exposure:

- Do not handle or butcher game animals that are obviously sick or are found dead.
- Do not eat, drink, or smoke while cleaning game.
- Wear rubber gloves or cover hands with plastic when cleaning game.
- Wash your hands with soap and hot water for at least 20 seconds after handling game.
- Carry disinfecting wipes or an alcohol-based gel into the field with you for immediate use after handling game.
- Wash tools and working surfaces with soap and water, then disinfect with a 10% solution of chlorine bleach.
- Cook game meat thoroughly—reaching an internal temperature of 165°F.

HUNTERS & FISHERMEN FOR THE HUNGRY

Hunters and fishermen, Rhode Island's DEM Division of Fish & Wildlife, and the local food bank network have come together to help Rhode Islanders in need. Food banks receive few in meat donations, and high quality protein is in high demand. Hunters and fishermen now have an opportunity to donate a portion of their catch to those who are less fortunate this season. In addition to the primary need for meat, there is the benefit derived to sportsmen from the good relations with the community. To obtain the packet of information regarding this program, please contact the Division at (401) 789-0281 or 277 Great Neck Rd, West Kingston, RI 02892. All information is also available at our website, www.dem.ri.gov.

Suggested donations may include: venison, Canada geese and fish.

- All donated fish and game meat must be legally harvested. (See "Guidelines for Accepting Donations & Proper Food Handling Techniques")
- All donations must be processed, packaged and refrigerated. Roasts, stew meat and hamburger in 1-5 pound packages are acceptable. It is preferred that the meat be frozen. For fish: Please see "Seafood Safety: What Consumers Need to Know".
- The Donation Label must be completed and fixed to the package.
- Food pantries will not accept donations with incomplete or missing labels.

Once all of these requirements are met, the donations may then be taken to a participating food bank from the list provided.

The following is the current list as of 7/1/08 of food pantries accepting delivery of donations (please call for hours of operation):

RESPECT LANDOWNERS' RIGHTS

Trespassing is illegal and can result in fines (RIGL 11-44-4). Annual written landowner permission is required for hunting deer. On wildlife management areas your permit is your written permission. In order to keep private land open to hunting in future years, it is recommended that the hunter gain the landowner's permission prior to hunting, for all hunting activities. Treat the landowner's land with respect. Know the property boundaries and respect the rights of abutting property owners. It is unlawful to shoot upon the land of another without their permission. A note or word of thanks to your host after the hunt will be greatly appreciated, and help to foster continued positive relations.

Outdoor Recreation Code of Ethics

I will:

- Consider myself an invited guest of the landowner, and conduct myself so that I will be welcome in the future.
- Recognize the rights and privileges of others sharing the same lands and waters.
- Understand the habits and habitats of the species, the regulations, and the fragile nature of the environment.
- Treat game with profound respect, engaging only in fair chase and seeking primarily a priceless outdoor experience.
- Avoid hunting practices that degrade the safety and quality of the sport.
- Avoid practices that disrupt nesting and denning activities.
- Avoid irresponsible use of alcohol and other drugs during outdoor recreation.
- Exercise care when dealing with fire and smoking materials.
- Support fish and game laws and harvest quotas so that future generations can have the same outdoor experiences we now enjoy.

Landowner Liability:

The landowner assumes no liability for any injury to person or property while the hunter is recreationally using private lands, unless the landowner has willfully failed to inform the hunter of dangerous conditions on private lands, and as long as no fee is charged to hunt (RIGL 32-6-3).

Please cut out courtesy cards below for your convenience-----as a reminder, annual written permission for deer hunting is now required.
